

ENERGY IS MADE OF SUN AND SAND

It only really takes a piece of plastic and you can get it from the hardware store take it bend it feel it it's elastic and open up that parabolic door

And it's the door the door the door to focal power and it's the door the door the door to focal point

And it's the eye the eye the eye to clear vision and it's the window to a focused universe

Now we've got ourselves a solar furnace to cook us up and melt us down some sand it's hot that spot in space will really burn us the silicon is floating from your hand

And it's the key the key the key to solar power and it's the key the key the key to energy

I said the key the key the key to solar power
I said the key the key the key to energy

That stuff that is inside of each transistor that stuff that makes you hear what I say spread it on your roof in sheets that glisten and then relax enjoy a sunny day

Because it gives you gives you gives you solar power because it gives you gives you gives you energy

I said it gives you gives you gives you solar power
I said it gives you gives you electricity

The eyes the eyes the eyes to new perceptions the windows to a new reality they turn your world around in two reflections they give your head another point of view

And it's the view the view the view of focal power and it's the view the view the view of focal point

I said the view the view the view of focal power
I said the view the view the view of focal point
